Hi, [Ex-husband],

During the past week something completely unexpected and incredible has happened in my life. [Maryann] and I have been in direct contact, we have gotten back together, I've left my wife, [Maryann's] been here for the past few days, and we're engaged. We picked up the ring two nights ago, and she's been wearing it ever since.

I didn't know how to tell you this, other than directly. I'm sure that it comes as a complete surprise to you, just as it has to [Maryann] and me for different reasons than yours. Frankly, I have never stopped thinking about, loving and missing [Maryann] during the past two years, which have been pure hell for both of us, as she and I now realize. In a way, the communications among you, [Maryann's In-law] and me seem to have actually served as a catalyst to the ability and desire of [Maryann] and me to reunite. My communications with persons such as [man Maryann dated in college] have actually been very laudatory as to [Maryann]. She and I are like two peas in a pod, and I frankly have struggled with and discounted much of what has happened or been alleged about her past. I just feel truly, that I know [Maryann] and the person she really is—she's frankly, my alter ego.

I want you to know that you can feel confident that your children will continue to know their father despite the fact that they will have me as a stepfather. They are beautiful kids whom I also love and plan to dedicate a significant part of my life to.

Best,

Bob
